

Official Inauguration Ceremony of Evalueserve's Joint Venture with Sony and Hazuki

Tokyo/Japan, Gurgaon/India, 29 September 2014

Global research and analytics firm Evalueserve has officially inaugurated its joint venture with Sony and international IP law firm Hazuki International. The joint venture, called IPValueServe, offers Japanese corporates an innovative and highly efficient new process of filing and prosecuting patents in the US.

More than 30 senior Intellectual Property executives representing major Japanese companies attended the official opening ceremony which was held at the Roppongi Hills Club in Tokyo, Japan.

IPValueServe delivers a highly efficient, high quality one-stop solution for the needs of large Japanese companies for US patent filing and prosecution. Its services will comprise all the steps of patent filing and prosecution in the US - from translation to preparing and filing office action responses. For IPValueServe's clients, Hazuki International will provide Japanese language support and services for filing in the US, while Evalueserve will provide the English language drafting services.
